Mentor

Michael Magyar:

Michael is a mentor who is motivated to see business leaders challenge themselves to greatness.

This motivation has driven Michael to mentor many business and community leaders in the last 20 years, challenging them to achieve their greater potential and make a greater impact on those around them. Along the way, Michael helps those he mentors to unravel their own talents and wiring and sets them on the path to discover and pursue their life purpose.

Michael has an engineering background, and as the executive director of an Australian medical innovation company, he has been able to nurture, grow and globalize the company through strategic relationships and key alliances. His strategic planning skills and foresight are assets for any organization keen to explore new and untapped markets.

Michael is passionate about seeing people grow in every aspect of their life. He mentors, encourages and then equips business leaders for personal transformation and life change.

Michael is a regular traveller, specifically to Eastern Europe, South East Asia and South Africa, where he continues to influence, challenge and impact business leaders and professionals to significance and greatness. His global networks keep Michael culturally and professionally motivated and relevant, enabling him to gain cross-cultural and globalized insights which greatly benefit the people he mentors.

Michael is happily married to Marion and they live with their two daughters in the World's Most Liveable City - Melbourne. Michael enjoys cruising on his Harley Davidson on those lazy Sunday afternoons.
